Flight tickets could be cheaper, if you can check the global prices of the tickets. Ticket booking prices vary from one country to the other but you are limited to searching your country's options only.

Shoopit.com can help in flight bookings at a much cheaper price and in a hassle-free manner. Airline ticket prices, for the same seat on the same flight, can vary from one country to another. You see only the prices available to people in your country. It is so because you don't search local versions of global ticket booking sites.

"Airline companies sell tickets all over the globe but at different prices. You see the prices available in your country because airline companies don't show the global prices. But you are free to search the global prices of airline tickets. It is where you need an optimizer as opposed to just an aggregator", said the owner of Shoopit.com.
